ABSTRACT

This directory of facilities and services offered to the physically handicapped and the blind by public and academic libraries in the New York metropolitan area lists libraries in both New York State and New Jersey. The first of two sections lists public libraries alphabetically by town, first in New Jersey and then in New York. The second section lists community and junior colleges, colleges and universities alphabetically by name of the institution in two separate alphabetical sequences for New Jersey and New York. Information provided for all entries in the directory includes the name of the library, its location, special equipment provided for the handicapped, accessibility of the library to the handicapped, and the name of the person to contact for more information. A list of private agencies providing library services for the blind in the New York metropolitan area is also included. (JL)

TO THE USERS OF THIS DIRECTORY

This directory was prepared as part of an ongoing effort to make libraries accessible to all citizens including the handicapped. It is a first attempt to identify what equipment, services, and facilities are available in libraries in the metropolitan area for library users with special needs, for the agencies that service them, and for librarians. Public and academic libraries are covered in this edition. A supplement on school libraries is to be published later this year. It is advisable that you call your library for the latest information because services and physical conditions change, some libraries did not respond in time to be included, or the included information may not be complete. In addition, the information given here is for individual libraries only and excludes mention of equipment, materials, and services which may be available from other agencies through an individual library.

The directory is a project sponsored by the Administrative Services Committee, a standing committee of the New York Metropolitan Reference and Research Agency (METRO). METRO is one of the nine regional library systems which form the Reference and Research Library Resources Program in New York State. METRO's purpose is to make the best use of material and staff now in libraries and to expand these resources cooperatively. Most of the major libraries in the area are members and much of the work is done on a voluntary basis.

The information for this directory was supplied by public and academic libraries throughout the New York-New Jersey metropolitan area in response to a questionnaire distributed in the summer of 1978. Included in the metropolitan area for the purpose of this directory are New York City, Westchester and Rockland counties in New York; and Bergen, Essex, Hudson, Passaic, and Union counties in New Jersey.

We are especially grateful to all those who cooperated in the project. We were encouraged by the eagerness of librarians to make their services and facilities known and accessible to those with special needs. Repeatedly, we were told, "If someone asks, we'll try to do it." We would appreciate any comments and suggestions that you care to make toward the improvement of the directory in anticipation of future revisions.

HOW TO USE THIS DIRECTORY

This Directory includes two sections;

1. PUBLIC LIBRARIES

This section lists public libraries in New Jersey alphabetically by town and then public libraries in New York alphabetically by town. Each entry gives information for the individual library only and does not list equipment, materials and services which may be obtained from other agencies through an individual library. For the large public library systems information on special equipment, materials, and services is provided only for the main library. Physical accessibility information is given only for branches which are partially or wholly accessible.

2. ACADEMIC LIBRARIES

This section lists community and junior colleges, college and university libraries alphabetically by name of the institution. There are two alphabets, one for New Jersey and one for New York. Since academic libraries are designed to serve their students and staff and sometimes restrict access only to those groups, it is advisable to call for services and facilities available to the public.

The format for each library entry is as follows:

LOCATION* LIBRARY PERSON TO CONTACT FOR MORE INFORMATION

SPECIAL EQUIPMENT:

SPECIAL MATERIALS, SERVICES:

ACCESSIBILITY:

*Academic libraries are listed alphabetically under the institution's name.

SPECIAL EQUIPMENT

SPECIAL EQUIPMENT offered by libraries includes the following: Braille writers; ceiling projectors; electric typewriters; large print typewriters; magnifying lenses; opticon; page turners; talking book machines; teletypewriters or MCM; tape recorders.

If these are available for loan, it is noted.

SPECIAL MATERIALS, SERVICES

MATERIALS which can be used by persons who have difficulties using conventional printed materials include the following: Braille materials; captioned films; music and spoken records and cassettes; large print books and periodicals.

If these materials are available for loan, it is noted.

SERVICES offered by libraries include the following: books by mail; individualized service to private homes ("home-bound" or "shut-in" service); listening rooms for sight disabled; physical assistance with materials provided by staff (eg. retrieving out-of-reach materials, pulling out catalog drawers, making copies); staff knows basic sign language; staff available to read for visually handicapped; telephone reference beyond the usual; regular programs.

Special services, including programs for special groups, even though not listed can often be arranged on an individualized basis. Do not hesitate to call your library to ask about special arrangements.

ACCESSIBILITY

ACCESSIBILITY indicates the physical features of the library which permit persons with handicaps to use it. The questionnaire included a checklist of the following accessibility features: Accessible parking; level walks with no curbs at crossways; building entrance at ground level/ramp; 32" wide doors that open easily; access to elevators; level thresholds/ramps to buildings and rooms; extended handrails on all stairways; restrooms with wide stalls and grab bars; non-slip floors; lower fountains for wheelchair users; lower public telephones for wheelchair users; library aisles between fixed stacks at least 32" wide.

SPECIAL LIBRARIES FOR THE BLIND AND PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED

Several public and private agencies provide library services for the blind and physically handicapped in the metropolitan area.

The regional libraries which are part of the national network of the Library of Congress provide services for people whose handicaps make it impossible for them to read traditional printed materials or hold or turn pages of a book.

Any public library will give more information about the service and supply application forms for readers to become certified for the service. You can also write or call the regional libraries directly:
